

The autumn/winter 2025 collection from Covalliero

The new autumn/winter 2025 collection from Covalliero combines comfort, warmth and elegance. It was inspired by the colours and beauty of the cold season. The collection focuses on the warm and atmospheric shades of rust, steel grey, black and navy, which perfectly match the autumnal nature:

- Rust - a warm, earthy rust tone that immediately conveys a feeling of cosiness. Rust goes perfectly with the autumnal atmosphere and adds a touch of naturalness and warmth to any look.
- Steel grey - modern and timeless: Steel grey provides an elegant base and can be combined in a variety of ways. This neutral shade of grey brings balance to the entire collection and emphasises the clarity of the design.
- Black - classic and versatile. Black is a real all-rounder and gives the collection a particularly sophisticated look. It looks elegant and provides the perfect base to harmoniously complement the colours rust and steel grey.
- Navy - deep and timeless, navy brings a subtle colour nuance to the collection. Navy radiates calm and is perfect for the cooler months, combining warmth and style.

Highlights of the collection

The collection places particular emphasis on fit and comfort - for rider and horse alike. Covalliero combines functionality and style at the highest level with sustainable materials and sophisticated designs that meet the requirements of equestrian sport.

For the rider - versatility and style

The cosy Arktis coat is an absolute must-have for cold winter days. With its cosy faux fur lining, it will keep you warm and cosy even on the frostiest days. Practical leg loops and reflective appliqués increase functionality and safety, while the oversized look ensures a modern, casual style. The 2-way zip and detachable hood offer additional comfort and flexibility, making the coat an excellent choice for both riding and in the stable. Enjoy the cold temperatures in this stylish and functional coat that combines warmth and protection.

The new riding gloves from Covalliero are specially designed for cold winter days and offer optimum protection against the cold. Thanks to their insulation made from Lavalan, a natural and environmentally friendly insulation made from European virgin wool, the gloves are pleasantly warm to wear. Lavalan is breathable and temperature-regulating - so the warmth remains pleasantly constant without your hands sweating. With Covalliero riding gloves, you are ideally protected on cold days and can enjoy your time in the saddle to the full - stylish, functional and naturally warm!

For the horse - comfort and protection

Thanks to the shock-absorbing padding, our high-quality MemoryRide saddle pad adapts perfectly to the horse's back and relieves it in sensitive areas. Enjoy maximum comfort and a perfect fit as well as a relaxed riding experience - for you and your horse!

The Covalliero Light sweat rug with separate neck section is a highly functional rug that allows the horse to sweat off particularly quickly thanks to the special polyester microfibre waffle fabric: the innovative combination of materials is sweat-absorbent, quick-drying and breathable, which promotes the horse's well-being - whether in the stable, during transport or at competitions. Thanks to its thin structure, it is also ideal as a hygiene rug and can be conveniently placed underneath other rugs when trying them on, for example.
